Central Library

University Library System

The Central Library was established in 2007 and is fully air-conditioned; it functions as the primary information resources centre and electronic resources for teaching and research activities at the BPSMV. The Central Library is spread over a 925 square meter area. The reading hall has the capacity of around 100 readers. The library has been growing in collecting of research reports, theses & dissertations, reference works, dictionaries, encyclopaedias and so on. The Library has internet and Wi-Fi connectivity for its users. Many knowledge based services like reference service, reprography services, database, internet browsing and e-services are provided by the central Library to its users.

The Library has membership of INFLIBNET, DELNET from 2007 onwards. The Library has a membership to NDL (National Digital Library) (World e-book library and South Asia Archives) for access to e-resources. The Central Library also contributes to the E-Shodh Ganga Repository and E-Shodh Sindhu for e-resources from 2021-22 DrillBit Plagiarism Detection Software is used in University Libraries.

The Library is provides facilities like computer lab, Inter-Library Loan, OPAC, etc. The entire computerised library activity has been revamped with KOHA Library software, which is more compatible with RFID technology and CCTV cameras have also been fixed at tangible points for surveillance.
